

Transaction Transparency

- Ensures database transactions will maintain distributed database's integrity and consistency
- Ensures transaction completed only when all database sites involved complete their part
- Distributed database systems require complex mechanisms to manage transactions